FOUR SEASONS AVIARA SAN DIEGO

The Four Seasons Hotels and Resorts have a mission – to be the world's premier hospitality company. With such a lofty goal, every effort is made to ensure the pleasure of their guests. The Four Seasons Resort Aviara is, indeed, the ultimate Southern Californian vacation destination. Located 30 miles north of San Diego, the resort's Spanish colonial architecture was designed to harmonize with the surrounding landscape. Each of the resort's spacious guest rooms has either a balcony or a terrace to enjoy the natural beauty.

Delightful though the room may be, you must leave it to play a round of golf on the Arnold Palmer signature course which was named the best course in the San Diego environs. After your invigorating round of golf, you may want to visit the European-style spa. Equipped with whirlpools, saunas, steam rooms, an indoor solarium, and a romantic couple's suite, the spa enhances your experience of the peace and splendor of Aviara. The resort's restaurant, Vivace, offers sumptuous regional Italian cuisine in an amazing setting overlooking the Pacific Ocean. Your greatest effort during your stay will be deciding which delectable culinary masterpiece to order.

This item includes two nights' accommodations at the Four Seasons Aviara (excluding holidays) and a round of golf for two at the Four Seasons Resort Golf Club. www.fourseasons.com/aviara

MURDER MYSTERY NIGHT

The year is 1936. The setting is a sumptuous Forest Hills manor. A highly-anticipated film's cast, director and writer, as well as a truly nasty columnist, gather for a pre-release private dinner party. Join actress Ivonde B. Alohne, screenwriter Hack Ryder, director Seldon "Sel" U. Lloyd, leading man Savoy R. Faire and others as you enjoy cocktails followed by an exquisite dinner prepared by celebrated culinary artiste Ann Rieger-Matthews. It should come as no surprise that the menu includes blackmail, sex, larceny, deceit and, yes, murder. Which of the eight guests committed the ghastly crime? You will have ample opportunity to solve this mystery as you are wined and dined in the manner of old Hollywood.

GIANTS BALL DUDE/DUDETTE

Your public awaits you. Imagine having not just fifteen minutes of fame but several hours. Since 1993, the San Francisco Giants have had "Ball Dudes" who assist during the games. This could be you! You will wear a full uniform with a number and "Ball Dude" proudly emblazoned on the back. You will monitor either the first base line near the dugout and in front of the bullpen or the third base line. Your duties will include retrieving foul balls to give to kids in the stands. You will also hand out baseball cards and candy. Your new fans will ask for your autograph and will shower you with compliments in the hope that you will send a ball their way Most Ball Dudes are over the age of fifty and can handle this instant celebrity. The TV/Radio announcers will be provided with a biography of your talents and achievements. You may find them commenting upon your prowess. You will report to the stadium several hours before the game, don a uniform and learn the intricacies of Ball Dudeship. During batting practice your friends and family are welcome to come down to the rail to bask in your glory. While you won't be fraternizing with the players, who knows, there may be a scout from an as-yet undiscovered franchise looking for someone with your skill set.

GARDEN OF SATISFACTION BY JOAN ELAN DAVIS

Garden of Satisfaction is an original painting by San Francisco artist Joan elan Davis. Davis has shown in good company around the world with artists such as Jackson Pollock's wife Lee Krasner, Jennifer Bartlett, Mary Cassat, Matisse, Tamayo and Picasso to name a few. Her works belong in several museum collections and prestigious private collections throughout the world including Nancy Goodman Brinker, Nancy Pelosi and hotels such as the Four Seasons and the Ritz Carlton. You may even have seen copies of her work in Z Gallerie. Davis usually works only with the trade and top west coast and east coast galleries and has offered the Bay School a unique opportunity to own one of her large paintings which are valued at over $20,000! This particular painting is a fresh take on the imaginary garden of which Davis is well known for painting in a vivid, dripping style. "I am a floral painter that does not really paint flowers," Davis says. "I use the floral form as a source of deep expression about the world and what I see as a joyous opportunity to live a rich and satisfying life by enjoying the energy around me." Davis translates this upbeat energy into color on canvas. Garden of Satisfaction is a signature work employing the artist's use of charcoal drawing mixed with inks and water based materials on canvas.

Each canvas is custom stretched and is of museum quality. Garden of Satisfaction is a collector's dream opportunity in today's rare economic circumstances. Original artwork of this caliber is truly an investment. Davis has volunteered as a Children's Docent at SFMOMA for nearly eight years and created two heart sculptures for Hearts of San Francisco which raised nearly $50,000 for San Francisco General Hospital. Davis contributes works in order to support organizations which understand and educate children and young adults in the arts.

'GUIDE DOGS FOR THE BLIND' VIP TOUR FOR FOUR

There is almost no point in writing a description for this item as the "ahhhhs" emanating from the bidders as they look at puppy pictures will most likely drown out the voice of our auctioneer. While many of us have children and still find babies to be, within reason, somewhat sweet, almost all of us cannot deny the appeal of a puppy. Cuteness aside, these particular puppies have a purpose. Established in 1942, Guide Dogs for the Blind's mission is to "use our Power of Partnership to improve the quality of life". They provide enhanced mobility to qualified individuals through partnerships with dogs whose unique skills are developed and nurtured by dedicated volunteers and a professional staff. Bay School parent, Emily Brown-Leist, will lead four people on a VIP tour of Guide Dog's San Rafael campus. With enough advance warning, she will arrange for you to meet and handle some puppies as well as explore the Puppy Truck. The tour will include a walk through the grounds, an explanation of the program, a tour of the kennel complex and an opportunity to observe guide dogs being trained. In an effort to boost the local economy as well as please your palate, lunch at a neighborhood establishment will be included. In order to avoid any possible confusion with babies and puppies, all human participants in this tour must be at least five years old.

GALAPAGOS ISLANDS W/AIRLINE MILES

Years ago, pirates, whalers and traders called them Las Islas Encandadas – the Enchanted Islands. Now we know them as the Galapagos. What better time could there be to visit these fabulous isles than during the bicentennial of Charles Darwin's birth? Admittedly, Mr. Darwin did not immediately grasp the significance of the islands' spectacular flora and fauna though he more than exonerated himself with the publication of On the Origin of Species. Two fortunate adults will be the guests of Geographic Expeditions on board La Pinta, the undisputed queen of the Galapagos fleet. Carrying 48 passengers and a crew of 25, La Pinta will visit seven of the archipelago's islands during its eight day voyage. You can snorkel in pristine waters, view exotic marine life from a glass bottom boat, stargaze without city lights, hike with certified naturalists, kayak among the seals or simply relax in the ship's Jacuzzi. La Pinta is a marvel of responsible travel practices without lowering standards for your cruising pleasure. They even have in-cabin recharging stations with adaptors for those who find that they have left their extra batteries 1000 km away in Quito. Included in this item are 60,000 donated airline miles. They can be used for off-peak travel or to upgrade your seat. A visit to the iguanas, tortoises, penguins, dolphins, lava lizards, whales and blue-footed boobies of Las Islas Encandadas is yours if you are the lucky winner.
